CONVENTION A

A new experience

Next year's event will set a new benchmark for online conferences in the international actuarial community.

High-ranking keynote speakers and experts streamed live by more actuarial institutions than ever before will provide an exciting and inspiring program on today's most relevant issues for actuaries from all areas.

The event will bring actuaries from around the world closer together again.

19 – 23 SEPTEMBER 2022 | ONLINE WORLDWIDE

The CONVENTION A is hosted and organized by the European Actuarial Academy (EAA) with support of the Actuarial Media Center (AMC) and www.actuview.com

Distinguished keynote speakers combined with expert sessions

The CONVENTION A will present an extensive actuarial event program with inspiring keynote presentations combined with expert sessions on all actuarial topics for the personal CPD of colleagues all over the world.

Well-known moderators will guide the participants through the program and welcome high-ranked keynote speakers for the daily plenary sessions.

Conference experience by the international partner community

Providing an extraordinarily varied offer, created jointly with as many partners as possible the program will feature live streams of many actuarial events which are hosted by our partners during the conference week.

The CONVENTION A initiates an attractive and unique networking experience for external partners in the field of online-based community offerings for the profession.

5 days available world-wide with highlights in all time zones

Participants will await a state-of-the-art online event experience which will allow them to schedule their personal program, join the sessions, re-watch missed presentations and interact with speakers and the audience.

Appointments also enable the participants to meet their colleagues in-between the sessions and get in touch with the partners of CONVENTION A.

Step 5: Let's talk!

STEP-BY-STEP

More Details

Step 1: What would your favorite time slot be to best reach your target audience? There are several slots available between 19 and 23 September 2022 (page 4). Please let us know your preferred time slot and we will try to accommodate your wish. We will have several parallel programs streaming so we surely will find the best spot for you.

Step 2: What will be your topic(s)? Define one or more main topics for your program that will be interesting for your audience. Focusing on one or two main subjects or stating an overall motto will also help to promote your sessions later to the audience. Your program is in your hands!

Step 3: How do you want to produce your program? The first option is to simply stream an event that takes place at the same time, like e.g. your Annual Meeting. Secondly, you can produce the program especially for the Convention A. With that, you have the freedom to choose between pre-recorded sessions via PowerPoint or Zoom or go for live sessions where users can ask questions and interact with the speakers.

In that case again Zoom is a possibility, but you can also film with a camera team in the office – or going big – from a studio. Moreover, you can also use a best-of with recordings from a recent event or produce a teaser with talks advertising a future event.

Step 4: What kind of formats do you have in mind? There is a wide range of formats you can choose from: individual presentations by experts, a professional conversation between two speakers, a panel discussion with 3 or more participants on stage, a pre-recorded interview or film, and so much more.

Step 5: Let's talk! Depending on your plans for the program there might be some or even a lot of specific questions ranging from thoughts on the program structure to the technical execution or creative ideas to enhance your viewer's experience. We are very happy to talk with you about the basic dos and don'ts. We can also help you determine which kind of production modes will fit to your plans. Let's schedule a call soon!
