| Sweden | Erik Alm | Response to be reviewed: To clarify, there are two routes open to become a fully qualified actuary (diplomerad aktuarie) in Sweden. One route is open for all applicants. This route is (in our view) fully compatible with the new AAE education requirements. This route is called “all” in the document. The other route is open for applicants who started at the university by 2011 at the latest. This route is (in our view) fully compatible with the old AAE education requirements. This route is called “older generation” in the document. No other routes exist. For applicants with a foreign exam (but outside of the mutual recognition agreement) we check there | 10/07/15 |
